Subject: Oppose Revisions to Portland Harbor Superfund Cleanup

Dear EPA

The Portland Harbor portion of the Willamette River contains carcinogens and other toxic chemicals in its sediments that are the result of decades of the illegal and irresponsible dumping of these chemicals. The current (2017) cleanup plan is already weaker than that which is needed to make the river safe for drinking, fishing, and other recreational uses. Even less cleanup to the Superfund Site, as proposed in the pending revisions, is a dangerous idea that appears to be motivated primarily by political considerations and not a serious review of the needs. I strongly urge the EPA to abandon these revisions.
